Dear Walter

[illegible] to determine exactly what you mean by the words "accidental discharge" [illegible] if you mean an accidental discharge due to a fall [illegible] or the bolt or striker to strike a round in the rifle in dropping the butt on the floor, or similar type of unintended firing, or accidental firing, if this is the intended meaning of these words, then the answer must be [illegible] the [illegible] meaning.

[illegible] rifle without a round in the chamber [illegible] drop it three or four times [illegible] the rifle will [illegible] the floor [illegible] the rifle will [illegible]

[illegible] the rifle [illegible] the chamber [illegible] the rifle [illegible] the chamber [illegible] the rifle [illegible]

[illegible] the M/37 is prone to accidental [illegible] if [illegible] rear engagement is used. Dropping the butt [illegible] does not seem to give much trouble due to the fact that the [illegible] the muzzle in firing. It is much easier to fire the M/37 accidentally by dropping the muzzle.
