While we realize that no one would intentionally wrongly reload a cartridge, we do know it happens. You must realize, as a responsible sportsman, that a reloader is a manufacturer, of sorts, and must accept the same responsibility as does any manufacturer for his product.

Based on our findings, the Remington Arms Co., Inc, cannot assume any responsibility or liability for an incident which was caused by a condition beyond our control. Therefore, under the circumstances, we feel that the special price of $295.00, plus N.Y. state tax and return shipping of $1.90 is eminently fair.

We will hold this offer open to you for an additional 90 days; after which time the damaged firearm will be returned to you in its present condition. We will await your decision and reply.

Sincerely,
