Monthly Technical Reviews

The purpose of the monthly technical reviews are to provide all members of Research with a better understanding of the myriad programs within Research, and to give the individual the experience of speaking before a group. There are no presentations scheduled for November. Do you feel that the purposes are important? Do you feel that the reviews fulfill the purposes? If you agree that the reviews should continue, please propose future topics and speakers.

→ To a certain extent.

• What are these purposes? to inform everyone else in Research outside of a specific group? If so, yes!

My only reservation about the reviews is the amount of lost work time created by those reviews when we are so desperately in need of improving output. Don't you agree?
