Hi Laura

I am just letting you know that my M700 22-250 is as good as when it was new or even better. When I zeroed it in at 100 yds. I got a 1.75" pattern. I also got a 3" pattern at 300 yds. I was shooting Remington core-lokt.

As I told you over the phone I have a C&R permit from the ATF. In the Remington area I have a 03 Springfield mark I (Peterson device)--converted back at Remington in 1943-44. A Remington 03-A3 Feb 44 date & a Remington 03-A3 1943. My question to you is if Remington has any old Remington parts or pieces I am interested in acquiring them.

On the phone you said something about being in Orlando Fl. I live in the area & work construction at the space center, so if you & or your family are in the area let me know.

Sincerely
Paul Wilcoxon

Dear Paul,

We are sorry to hear that your firearm discharged while your son was out hunting. We are glad to hear that no one was hurt. We would like to inspect your rifle to check it for safety and can also change the bolt lock mechanism under our safety modification program.

More information regarding this program can be found through the following link:

http://www.remington.com/safety/safety_center/safety_modification_program/

I have also included a link to our factory repair form which you can fill out and include with the firearm when you send it in to us.
