to the "fire" position, you, at the same time, inadvertently brushed or hit the trigger. When the safety lever reached the "fire" position, the gun then discharged - as it is designed to do - because the trigger was being pulled with the gun no longer on "safe".

Per your request during our phone conversation, we are returning the rifle to you as received.

Thank you for having afforded us this opportunity to examine your rifle and to be of service.

Sincerely,

J.A. Stahl, Supervisor
