I have a Remington 700 .243 cal that is about 25- 30 years old. Sometimes it will fire when taking the saftey off. I took it to a gun shop and they said that trigger mech. has been recalled because of this problem. Can you give me more information on this. Where do I send the gun to have the work done. I also have a 700 in .270 cal that is about the same age. It has not malfunctioned yet but should be covered under the same recall. Any help would be greatly appreciated.
