Remington Military Products Division Announces the award of a US Army Contract

Madison, NC - Remington Military Products Division is proud to announce the recent contract award from the US Army for product improvement of the Model M24 Sniper Weapons System.

This contract award marks a collaborative effort by the US Army and Remington Military Division to provide a enhanced capability to unit snipers by the application of a sound suppressor. As a part of the newly announced M24A2 program; OPS Inc. 3rd Model M24 sound suppressors are offered for retrofit to existing Army owned M24 Sniper Weapons Systems.

The application of suppressors to existing weapons systems provides genuinely unique capabilities to US Army combat forces in terms of sniper location denial and noise abatement in urban environments. These capabilities allow US Army marksman to operate in a greater range of environments and locations in addition to denying the identification of their unique mission and role through sound signature.

Remington Military Products Division welcomes the continued relationship with our nation's military and is continuing to strive to develop and provide the tools needed by our combat forces.
