

Arms Division Minute 5, 1958

Research and Development reported that because of design difficulties, no further consideration will be given to the XS-5 design (lower cost Sportsman-58) at this time.

With respect to the relative economics of the Sportsman-58A and the XS-3, two further exhibits were presented; one by the Ilion Plant and one by the Treasurer's Department. Sections of the Ilion report showing comparative costs and operative earnings are reproduced below. These are the sections covering the guns now under consideration.
