

To ROGER POTTER,

My husband bought me a 7mm Rem. Mag for Christmas 1991. The gun was never used until October to be sighted in for Elk season.

While my sister and I were out sighting it in, the safety was on, the trigger was not touched, and the gun went off. Luckily no one was hurt.

The button to release the bolt is also very tough. The safety switch is hard to switch to fire and very noisy.

After paying $400⁰⁰ for this gun and not being able to use it safely, I feel that Remington should fix it by putting the old style safety
