

6. Magazine capacity remains the same in the standard calibers. A capacity of three cartridges in the magazine of the Magnum is available by deepening the magazine about 1/8". This will degrade appearance to some slight extent. A magazine capacity of two cartridges in the Magnum should be considered.

7. The bolt release lever will not be available in the magazine of the Magnum due to lack of space. Consideration should be given to eliminating this lever on all calibers. Dropping the magazine box releases the bolt when no lever is included. Since this lever system is used only to close the bolt on an empty chamber for dry firing, its value could be considered marginal.
