Dear Sir:

I am a firm believer that Remington is one of the best brands in firearms, if not the best. Personally, I own seven Remington Firearms in which I had never had any problems.

The reason I am writing to you is because one of my seven firearms has a little problem. While closing the bolt, during freezing or near freezing temperatures, it releases the trigger and fires. Therefore it makes the environment somewhat hazardous.

I would like to know if you are able to fix such problem and if their is a charge. Please send me the necessary information to resolve my problem. Enclosed is a list of the firearms that I own.

Sincerely,

Hector Rocha, Jr.
