Dear Sirs,
On January 16, 2002, I took my Remington 700 to the Red Rock Sporting Goods Store in Miles City, Mt to have the bolt lock feature replaced. I was understood that Remington would pay for the replacement of this feature which had misfired twice. When the gun was sent back to me, I was told that I had to pay for the repairs myself as well as the shipping and handling. The total bill was $56.75 ($41.75 for the repair and $15.00 for shipping and handling). Your company has a copy of the invoice #40861280, invoice date 1/17/02.

I feel that I should be given a rebate for the repair amount of $41.75 as the company advertises that they are making these repairs for $20.00 plus shipping and handling, and that the customers then receive a $20.00 coupon good for Remington products in return.

I would appreciate your assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

James M. Simonsen
