Dear Mr. Hoyt,

Thank you for your inquiry and your support. We have a Safety Modification Program on certain model bolt action rifles. This is a voluntary program, it is not a recall. This is designed to remind people of the existence of the bolt-lock feature and to offer customers the opportunity to modernize their products.

You can read more information regarding our firearms and our Safety Modification program through the front page of our website or the link below:

http://www.remington.com/safety\_modification\_program/remington\_safety.htm

The safe use and performance of your firearm depends on correct assembly and routine maintenance, as well as adherence to the "10 Commandments of Firearm Safety." <http://www.remington.com/support/10comm.htm> It is critical that you familiarize yourself with the information in both the owners manual and safety booklet. Whether you are a veteran shooter with a collection of Remington firearms, or a first time shooter, take the time to review this important literature and be certain that you are practicing firearm safety!

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact us at 1-800-243-9700 or 1-877-387-6691.

Sir

I was sent a news release which explained that there was a problem with your model 700 rifles. I do own a few and all were bought in the mid 80's. The new release doesn't say which model 700 ; i.e. adl/bdl.

Being a safe hunter and shooter, I know that you just don't trust a safety by itself. There other factors involved. All of which are human.

Could you please give me some more info on this subject and maybe what to look for and who to take the guns to to have them fixed.

Thank you for your time

Wesley M. Hoyt
