

accidental discharge

Discussion Thread

Response (Laura)

3/20/2002 1:58:26 PM

Dear Dave,

Thank you for your inquiry. This was not a shotgun. This was a Model 700 rifle.

The safe use and performance of your firearm depends on correct assembly and routine maintenance, as well as adherence to the "10 Commandments of Firearm Safety." <http://www.remington.com/support/10comm.htm> It is critical that you familiarize yourself with the information in both the owners manual and safety booklet. Whether you are a veteran shooter with a collection of Remington firearms, or a first time shooter, take the time to review this important literature and be certain that you are practicing firearm safety!

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact us at 1-800-243-9700.

Customer

3/17/2002 11:39:08 PM

Hi there,

I recently heard about a situation where a mother who was on a camping trip was armed with a remington shot gun. she picked up the weapon the and the shotgun discharged accidentally. her finger was not on the trigger and there were some other reported cases there the same model of shotgun accidentally discharged also. My question is what shotgun, gauge and model number, was it.

I only ask so that I may purchase a remington shot gun not of that model.

I like your firearms, ammunition and company public relations, I just want to make an informed decision on my purchase. Thanks.
Dave