Thank you for your inquiry. We would not recommend removing the trigger and shipping it alone. You should contact a Remington Authorized Repair Center in Texas for suggestions on how to accomplish repair the easiest.

You can find the nearest Remington Repair Center at the following section of our site.

I own a Remington 700 BDL made before 1982 with the bolt-lock mechanism in the trigger assembly. I live in Mexico and it is very difficult and time consuming to get a permit to take the rifle to the US and get it back. Is it possible to send to a Remington dealer only the trigger assembly to remove the bolt- lock mechanism?

Thanks
