

No Summary

Discussion Thread

Response (Chris)
Dear Mr. Paliy,

12/10/2004 11:44:34 AM

By the serial number, this is a safari with 24" barrel produced in 1991. A more detailed description is not listed with the serial number.

A blind magazine would mean it has no detachable magazine or hinged floorplate underneath, just in front of the trigger guard.

If it has a bolt lock, you would not be able to open the bolt without putting it on fire. This was generally on models before 1982.

We do not recommend altering that safety.

Customer (Roman Paliy)

10/22/2004 3:28:00 PM

Sirs,

Some more questions

1 what type of magazine does my Rem 700 .458 Safari rifle have? Is it:

- blind magazine similar to ADL rifle or
- hinged floor plate similar to BDL or
- oberndorf-style magazine latch
- or other?

2 what type of bolt design:

- pre-lock or
- post-lock
- or other?

3 For the purpose of getting parts (from Brownell's etc.) please inform me about possibility to replace an original safety to three position safety on bolt shroud.

Thank you again.

Looking forward for your reply.

Roman

>