Thank you for visiting Remington Country. According to the information that you provided, your Remington Model 700 was produced in or around 1971. We do not have production totals for specific calibers. The Model 700 was introduced in 1962 and is still in production today. This model is widely recognized as the "most accurate out of the box production rifle" on the market today. We would suggest that you review the information found on our homepage in the Safety Center entitled "Bolt Action Safety Message: Safety Modification Program for certain pre-1982 rifles".

The ADL-BDL designations were originally acronyms for A Grade Deluxe and B Grade Deluxe. The deluxe term was once tacked on to the end of the model designation: Model 700 ADL Deluxe and Model 700 BDL Custom Deluxe.

Both models use similar barreled actions, which feature the strongest actions made, exceptionally crisp triggers and 3.0 millisecond lock times. However, the Model 700 BDL is fit with a hinged floor plate or detachable magazine (DM) that allows the shooter to unload ammunition through the bottom of the rifle by opening the floor plate or removing the magazine. The Model 700 ADL uses a blind magazine and can only be unloaded through the top by working the bolt open and closed.

I have a Model 700 which I believe is an ADL model. You do not have anything on your site for an ADL model (just BDL & CDL). The Serial # is 6493351. Could you please tell me when it was manufactured and the specifics of an ADL?
