Thank you for contacting Remington Country. Your Model 722 was produced in 1959. Your firearm has not been involved in a recall. Your rifle was originally installed with a bolt-lock, which means you have to put the safety switch on fire before you can open the bolt. We are offering a conversion at a special price if you would like your firearm converted, so that you can open the bolt at anytime with the safety on safe. To view more details regarding this modification, go to:

http://www.remington.com/Safety\_Modification\_Program/remington\_safety.htm

Your Model 121 was produced around 1950. This model has not been recalled.

You can view the history on this model at:

Due to the many variables involved with valuation, we would encourage you to refer to the many publications that are available on the subject of gun values or have it appraised by a collector. Many of these books are available through public libraries or local bookstores. For your convenience we have provided a listing of the more popular books:

I recently inherited two Remington's:
Model 722 (.222) SN 408293
Model 121 (.22) SN 148640

My internet forum research indicates a possible 722 recall due to a safety/fire issue.

How do I determine if the 722 or the 121 have recalls or updates?

Thank you,
Dwight Critchell
