Subject: Rem 700 & 700ML safeties.

Hi Ken,

Lately we have a several customers with 700's and 700ML's who have broken the little the knurled piece of their safety lever? In past years I had been able to order just the lever and most recently have been told these are factory install only? What's the official word on the availability of this lever? It sure would be nice to help these customers with a new lever instead of a complete trigger assembly.

Thanks for all your help.
