

Guns Failure this Year Another Hunter told me He Read A Article in American Hunter, "Which I often Purchase myself" Stating that Some Model 700^s Have A Firing Mechanism failure which would be Repaired if It was sent to Remington Arms. I Have Searched for the Article but Have Yet to Find it. My questions Are As Follows

① IF Your 700^s Have A defect such as this Why Havent Registered Owners Received A Letter Stating Such?

② What Am I supposed to do with this Rifle That Me + My whole Family is scared to death of?

③ If your Company Repairs this Gun would Representatives of your Company stand in front of it while A Shell was Chambered & Unchambered and the Safety taken on & off?

Copies off this letter Have been Made and I anxiously Await Your Reply

Sincerely, J. Allan Davis for Josh Davis
