Dear Mr. Stahl,

As my letter stated, I was hunting in a blind in DeKalb County, Texas in 1987. I haven't fired the gun this hunt. I stepped out of the blind and pulled the bolt up to unlock the shells when it went off. No harm or damage occurred. I've dialed my actions to make sure there was no way I pulled the trigger when it went off and I am convinced that it somehow went off when the bolt was pulled up.

I haven't fired the gun since then.

Could you check it and replace the trigger or bolt assembly or whatever is necessary to correct the problem.

Sincerely,
Borden Johnson
