

Push it forward. This is the way I started to do it when I first got my belt and have been doing it ever since.

Well when I pushed it forward the gun went off. ~~into~~ seeing the cut of my, and giving me a pretty good chunk. The next thing I did was just stand there and look at the gun without moving, until my friend came running over. He asked if I was alright. I said yes, and he said I thought you shot yourself.
I said no, I just took him safely off and the gun went off. The next thing I did was try to reload, the the but when I lifted the belt up and tried to push it back it would not come back. So I put the belt back down and tried it again, the next time I tried it it worked but it didn't feel right. When the shell came out I went to push the belt but it went over the shell, they let
