Dear Sir:

I am writing to inquire about the shooter-safety merits of your current Model 700 bolt action rifle.

I am a 55 year old retired Navy senior non-commissioned officer with some 30 years of shooting and ammunitionreloading experience.

I want to buy one of your current Model 700's, in Varmint Model, .308 Win. caliber for bench and metallic-silhouette target shooting. I will reload my ammunition.

My questions and problem here:

1. In a printed publication, "Bolt Action Rifles" written by Mr. Frank de Haas, former technical staff member of the National Rifle Association, edited by Mr. John T. Amber, Editor of The Gun Digest magazine-book company, incorporated, Northfield, Illinois, 1971 and 1973, there appears a full-length article on the merits and demerits of the Remington Model 700 bolt-action (pages 249-255).
2. Mr. De Haas states several positive merits of the M700 to his personal liking, however, on page 252, he
