On opening day of deer season 2004. I was getting ready to go hunting in the morning on opening day. I walked out of the house into our breezeway (which is lite) an area between our house and garage it was still dark outside.

I decided to load my Model 700, I injected a shell into the gun as I pulled the bolt back and pushed it forward and down it fired. I thought I could have hit the trigger. But about a week later I was checking it out and it happened again. It really scared me!

I really like the gun but I'm afraid to use it now or let anyone borrow it. I am afraid someone might get hurt.

PS. I had to leave my scope mounts on, as they were on to tight.
