CUSTOM KS MOUNTAIN RIFLES

1999

Model 700™ Custom KS Mountain Rifle
(also available in 22 rimfire as the Model 40-NR KS Sporter—single shot only.)

Model 700™ Custom KS Mountain Rifle
(Stainless Steel)

What the Remington Model 700 Custom KS Mountain Rifle lacks in weight, it makes up for in strength and accuracy.

The Model 700 Custom KS Mountain Rifle breaks the rule for traditionally heavy big game rifles. The Kevlar® reinforced fiberglass stock is lighter than wood, yet rugged enough to absorb the punishment of severe weather and hard use. And its nonreflective finish won't alert wary eyes.

The streamlined contours of the stock design make this rifle pleasing to the eye—and to the touch. The stock is completely unaffected by changes in moisture, temperature or altitude. And it has the rigidity to stay sighted-in, shot after shot.

The straight style stock includes an integral cheekpiece that has a natural feel when the rifle is mounted. A blind magazine adds stiffness which reduces flexing.

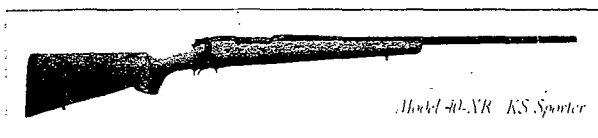

The heart of the Model 700 Mountain Rifle is the exclusive Remington bolt design which supports the extractor, making it grip the cartridge head tighter as you extract the spent cartridge. The bolt, barrel and machined receiver surround the cartridge with three rings of solid steel, unlike Mauser-type actions.

No detail is overlooked on this rifle. Remington's skilled craftsmen hand assemble and carefully test the trigger mechanism to ensure crisp, reliable performance, shot after shot.

Available with matte finished ordnance grade carbon steel, or uncolored stainless steel barrel and action.

This rifle is also available in 22 Rimfire as the Model 40-NR KS Sporter, in black matte carbon steel, right-hand action only.
