Ilion R. & D. has sent me a Model 721 on which they have made modification to the safety lever and button on the trigger assembly, along with wood removal in stock for clearance.

The modification looks okay to me, and John Brooks would like approval, so that suggested repair can be given to Arms Service. There are no parts available for 721-722, so we either make this repair or offer a 700 in exchange. I doubt there will be many of these models returned, and suggest the repair.

Who, other than yourself, should approve? — Production

The gun is in my office for examination.
