

Bedding of the action is also as machined, without the use of any epoxy forward of the recoil shoulder. (Photo #13)

The trigger guard is recessed into the stock and secured by two screws. These two screws along with a third screw forward of the trigger guard also secure the barreled action to the stock. (Photo #14)

