Remington read carefully

I bought 3 mos ago a 40XB I have a fine battery of custom F.N. mason's I broke with tradition and bought your gun. It was supposed to be a shooter. As I only shot it once I saw no great improvement in shooting. However I elected to get a 2 round trigger to improve the bench work with a 36 length. I called and wasted money the first time they said it had to be done by Rem. send it in. Then I went took some time off 1 morning made a nice package and sent it to you around Nov 1, 85. As you can see on the other side of the letter it took 15 days just to get a look in the package (real efficient) from shipping date of 11/1/85. Then it layed there 1 month. Then you had the balls to send it back with no indication as to anything, only this Business Reply. And no work done. So of course I called wasted my money again. Two times finally someone gave me Tim McCormick. He asked me if my gun had a magazine said Remington could not put a 2 round trigger on because it had a magazine (considered a repeater) and trigger was in safety? Nice I like that. He said you could order one and a gunsmith will put it on for you. At this point I would like to ask you what is the liability? are you afraid I could shoot thru the magazine? If the gun were broken and went off only the chambered bullet in a single shot or a repeater could go off. The trouble with you people is you have to much money and no customers here. So fuck you now and your gun. I will sell it for a loss but to start with you. And believe me everyone in my broken and gun club will hear many times over the great workmanship of Remington Arms. Sincerely, Mrs Ferri
