I purchased the above gun about ten (10) years ago
- the first night I was at the gun discharged when I released the safety. I shot him a hole thru the neck & my car, thru the front end & broke the driver's shaft.

Right after that I went to see a doctor that the gun was defective. I shot it down & took it to an appointed place for repair. This is all & the gun has worked wonderful ever since, that is until this year. I shot down on Monday Nov 30th I missed a "mild" round. I was when I released the safety the gun discharged on its own. I thought maybe it was my fault. I thought I was to shoot.
I shot on Friday Dec 1st as it did the same thing when I went to unload my gun. I should have been enough to point the gun away from my fellow hunter otherwise I would never have been killed.
