I take wonderful care of my gun, in fact it looked just like the day I purchased it.

My question is - what is wrong with this gun, has it become defective again or wasn't even repaired properly the first time? I have missed the last two days of the first week & will miss the last week because I'm afraid to use this gun & it's the only one I have. I'm retired & live on S.S. so I can't afford to go out & purchase a new gun.

Since this gun was defective from day one & now has the same defect, I think you people have an obligation to please advise.
