Dear Sir:

CONSUMER SERVICE

A hunting companion of mine owns a Remington, Model 600 serial no. 628XX in Cal. 350 Rem. MAG.

My question is: has there ever been a report of a defective safety on this particular model.

We had finished hunting for the day and my friend was about to unload his rifle so we could go home. He released the safety and started to raise the bolt handle and the gun went off. His hand was not on the trigger; it all happened so fast we are not sure how much he opened the bolt.

Trying to duplicate what we thought had happened (with the gun unloaded) we could not get it to malfunction, but we are still not sure of the safety. We would appreciate any information or help you could give.

Thank you
Joseph T. Harmon
