

no malfunction.

During the big game season (This year) I ~~was~~ was coming out of the woods around noon, I knelt down and pushed the safety forward and the rifle discharged again. This time the shock wasn't so great to me and I looked down to see where my finger was. My hand was fully around the pistol grip and just my thumb was on the safety.

This is the last time I will ever use this rifle. I could never trust it. I thought about selling it but as a NRA Safety Instructor for some 15-years, I could ~~not~~ never do it with a clear conscience.

I was wondering if you at Remington would give me some kind of trade in credit for a new barreled action that would fit my stock.

Waiting for your reply

Paul V. Pitt