

off to unload the last cartridge, blowing the passenger seat in my Jeep CJ-5 into pieces and leaving a dime sized hole in the side of the body. This is more than I can stand as repairs for the Jeep alone are going to be considerably more than the cost of a new 700 BDL. I took the trigger mechanism out and cleaned and oiled with "Breakfree" generously.

Coupled with these incidents and numerous problems with my Rem. Model 1100 12 gauge shotgun, the Remington name is fading fast on my list of quality firearms. Please route this letter to those that deal with such problems as I am concerned about damage costs to personal property and the safety of myself and those I hunt with.

Thank you
