Gentlemen:

Have recently acquired XP-100 Ser. 4540 w/Bushnell Phantom 1.5X scope, with the express purpose of conducting experimental research in long-range shooting.

Would greatly appreciate information as to the experience of other shooters using the XP-100 at long ranges; this may save some time and money, otherwise will have to start at scratch; it may also serve as a means of comparing results with other shooters. Have reason to feel that the XP-100 equipped with high-power scope may develop data of an interesting nature at extra-long rifle range.

Am enclosing my only file copy of article published regards experiments along similar lines; please return the magazine as soon as possible.

Very truly yours,
