

D R A F T

TO THE EDITORS:

On behalf of Remington, I would like to call your attention to the fact that the XP-100 is manufactured with a trigger balance in the stock of the gun which helps to prevent accidental discharge when the gun is dropped or severely jarred. Without this trigger balance, the gun may be susceptible to "jar-offs".

No XP-100 barreled action should be assembled into a stock that does not include a trigger balance, and your readers should be so advised. Remington stands ready to supply XP-100 trigger balance components to you or your readers _____ . (Fill in terms upon which Remington is willing to furnish a trigger balance.)

Very truly yours,

REMINGTON ARMS COMPANY, INC.
