

The insert is riveted to the magazine box and contains a stamping of the caliber. The magazine bottom slides into place under two tabs formed in the bottom of the box. This holds the follower and spring in place and allows for a quick - easy disassembly. The follower is riveted to the magazine spring. The magazine spring consists of two cross-members pinned together with a helical torsion spring attached to this pivot point.