

The bolt body contains four gas vent holes. One small hole is located near the cut for the extractor while the other three larger diameter holes are positioned in line along the bolt body and point down into the magazine when the bolt is closed. (Photos #5 and #6)

