Mid Priced ($250-$500)

Accounting for approximately 25% of the bolt-action rimfire rifles sold in the U.S. domestic market, rifles in the mid priced category appeal to a more discriminating market. As a result, these rifles do command a higher price. Rifles in this price category adopt some of the same features found on popular bolt-action centerfire rifles such as adjustable fire controls, higher grade wood and superior finish. Remington used to compete in this segment with the Model 541 and 581 series of rimfire rifles.

Ruger

Based on the popular M77 centerfire rifle series, the Ruger M77/22 shares many of the styling characteristics of its centerfire counterpart, as well as the same three-position safety. First introduced in 1980, the 77/22 has gained quite a foothold in the mid priced bolt-action rimfire category. Models are available in 22LR, 22 Magnum and the new .17 Hornady Magnum Rimfire. Available in walnut, laminated, and synthetic stocked
