

complete system costs $6,000.</td>
</tr>
<tr> Rear sight:</td> Detachable Redfield Palma Match open sight provided for emergency usage.</td> </tr> <tr> Receiver:</td> Drilled and tapped for scope mount with #8-40 holes, and #6-48 screw holes for receiver sight. Steel trigger guard and floor plate are manufactured by Dakota Arms.</td> </tr> <tr> Receiver marking:</td> Remington M700 / M24 and U.S. is stamped on rifles intended for the U.S. Army.</td> </tr> <tr> Safety:</td> Ambidextrous two-position safety modified to give equal on-off safety force.</td> </tr> <tr> Scope:</td> Leupold-Stevens Ultra-M-3A day optic sight, fixed at 10-power, with Mil Dot system range-finding reticle. Has a bullet drop compensator and is adjustable for parallax (focus). The scope caps are commercially available from Butler.</td> </tr> <tr> Serial number location:</td> Bottom of turret (same as product B.A.C.F.).</td> </tr> <tr> | | | | | | | | | | | |