Greetings!

I am a hunter's education instructor in Nebraska and am in search of some assistance. I am looking for any promotional items that Remington might have for the kids in my classes to help them better understand the types and sizes of ammunition. I am willing to pay postage and even for the items, if they're not too expensive. Can you do me a favor and see if there might be some old promotional items that are not in use anymore? My goal is to help the kids understand all aspects of outdoor safety and to introduce them to the major players in the hunting world! Thank you for any help you can lend! If you have any questions, you may contact me at:
