I have recently had an incident with one of my Remington rifles. The rifle fired when I pushed the safety lever to the fire position. I injured my thumb in this incident.

I was told there may have been a recall on some of the Remington Model 700 Rifles. I have provided two serial numbers. I have two Model 700's. The Serial Number 5681031 is for a 30-06 caliber. The Serial Number A6461801 is for a .243 caliber.

The rifle that fired when the safety lever was pushed to fire was the 30-06 caliber Rifle.
