

Bolt action recall

Discussion Thread

Response (Laura)

3/19/2002 3:22:12 PM

Dear Mr. Gorovitz,
Thank you for your comments and feedback.

Customer (Eric Gorovitz)

3/8/2002 8:32:56 PM

> >My point exactly! The problem is not that people don't know of "the >existence of the bolt-lock feature," but that that feature is dangerously >designed. That's why your guns keep firing when they're not supposed >to. It ought to trouble you that this happens so often, and if you did >care about the well-being of your customers, you would take aggressive >action to make sure that your guns don't continue to fire when they're not >supposed to.
> >