

Model 700 Mountain DM

Discussion Thread

Response (Chris)

4/6/2005 8:38:19 AM

Dear Mr. Lobb,

Thank you for your patience. We no longer install a bolt lock on the Model 700 rifles as previous models, before 1982, had installed. We feel it is safer for you to be able to unload the rifle with it on safe instead of having to put it on fire to unload.

You can view more info on the older bolt lock at:

http://www.remington.com/Safety\_Modification\_Program/remington\_safety.asp

Customer (Joe Lobb)

3/30/2005 5:11:31 PM

I have this rifle in a 270 winchester and I have noticed that the bolt comes open when the safety is on. I love the gun, but this is a hazard when walking thru brush as natural the bolt is pulled open. Is this the way it was designed, because the older Model 700 BDL 7MM Mag I have is not this way?