Two earlier findings with reference to the Karamanli and the 1975 elections have been that the "Armenian Special" was involved. Since then, Karamanli has been an indispensable factor in virtually all elections. This finding can be stated as follows: If the above-mentioned Karamanli factor and reference to the involvement of the Armenian Special are taken into account, the results of the 1975 general elections and the 1979 new elections can be stated as follows: The Karamanli factor and the Armenian Special were the main factors which determined the results of the 1975 general elections and the 1979 new elections.

Family & Gender—The family is a social unit that is the basic unit of society. It is a group of people who are related by blood, marriage, or adoption. The family is the primary socialization agent for children. It is the family that teaches children the values, norms, and customs of their culture. The family is also the primary source of emotional support for its members. The family is the first and most important social institution that a child encounters. It is the family that shapes the child's personality and determines the child's future. The family is the foundation of society. Without a strong family, society cannot thrive. The family is the heart of society. It is the family that gives life meaning and purpose. The family is the place where we learn to love, to respect, and to care for others. The family is the place where we find our roots and our identity. The family is the place where we belong. The family is the place where we are loved. The family is the place where we are safe. The family is the place where we are happy. The family is the place where we are free. The family is the place where we are whole. The family is the place where we are home.
