

- Designed for ease of manufacturing through parts commonality from caliber to caliber and assembly that is easily repeatable and lends itself to standardized processes.

Although current centerfire rifle order positions are solid with the Model 710 and Model 700, history in the autoloading shotgun market has taught us that displacement within the market is only as far away as the next major product innovation. Remington must be proactive in this regard.