

Make it a practice to clean your bore every time you're going to shoot. Be sure to clean your entire gun before and after long-term storage and no less than once a year. It's so important to clean your gun whenever it's been exposed to adverse conditions such as rain, dirt, mud, snow, sweat or saltwater.

For safe and dependable operation of your firearm, all parts of your gun must be properly oiled and lubricated. Periodically inspect the internal workings of your firearm to be sure they're clean and free of rust, grease, dirt and debris.

Use recommended lubricants on your gun and do not over-lubricate. Excessive use of a non-recommended lubricant could adversely affect the function and safe operation of your firearm. Remember, you are responsible for the proper care and maintenance of your firearm. Failure to properly maintain your firearm can not only damage or ruin your firearm, it can expose you and others to unnecessary risks of personal injury or death.

Remington® has a wide range of firearm care products and resources for best results when caring your gun. Everything from solvents and lubricants to rods and patches. They're all available from your Remington dealer.

10th COMMANDMENT

Learn the Mechanics and Handling Characteristics of Your Firearm.

Not all guns are alike. They have different mechanical characteristics that dictate how you should carry and handle them. Anyone who plans to use a firearm should first become totally familiar with the type of firearm's and the safe handling procedures for loading, unloading, carrying, shooting and storing it.

Before you even unpack your new Remington firearm, read this instruction book from cover to cover and familiarize yourself with the different component parts of the gun. Then read, understand and follow the Ten Commandments of Firearm Safety in this book.

WARNING! Unloading firearm in poorly ventilated areas, including firearms in handling orientation may result in exposing you, and a substantial firearm to cause both direct, reproductive damage and other serious physical injury. Have adequate ventilation and wear protective gear immediately after exposure.

SHOOT SOBER!

There's only one rule that must be followed when drinking beer, wine or liquor: respect for this rule is necessary in order to effectively practice the Ten Commandments of Firearm Safety. The rule is: SHOOT SOBER! Guns and alcohol or drugs make a deadly combination. Never consume anything that could mildly impair your judgment or physical coordination when you're using a firearm. An staggering percentage of the shooting accidents that occur every year involve alcohol or drugs. Be smart. Always moderate and stay alive.

WARNING! Failure to follow one of these safety rules may result in personal injury or death to the shooter or bystander and damage to property. Do not use a firearm until you fully understand and practice the Ten Commandments of Firearm Safety. If you have any questions, call the U.S. sales office of a Remington firearm, write to the Remington Arms Company, Inc., 5000 Walker Avenue, P.O. Box 400, Madison, NJ 07754-0400, or call us at 1-800-243-6760.
