One of the things we wanted to try and do was to fit the RH varmint rifles (not the XR-100's) with prototypes of the new SPL fire control. I am assuming that this early in the game, that has not been done. These can be DAT or T&P fire controls if they are representative performance wise to what we are going to ship. I don't know what Ilion has on hand for samples, but I have two of Ronkanien's DAT firecontrols here in my office.

Steve and Joe, please advise.
