I was talking about the calls coming through the direct BL line.
As for the calls taken the week of 6/24, it was 42.

Should the direct line still take priority over the other calls? I have not been treating it any differently than the regular lines.

Number of calls taken 40. I am starting get alot of return calls on the 800 line that are merely status checks. Do you want me to count those? I haven't been to date.
