I used my new BDL 700 Remington 7mm on a recent ELK hunt in Colorado.
While going through heavy oak brush with the rifle slung on my sholder I was surprised to find that the brush was able to snag the bolt and open the action which ejected the shell. I checked to ensure that the safety was on an in testing again surprised to find how easy the action opened.
Can you pls advise if this is correct and normal??? Fred K.
