

HI I know i am a small dealer, last year i sold about 40-50 of your rifl...

Discussion Thread

Response (KATHY) 4/18/2001 6:22:27 PM
At 04/18/2001 03:18 PM we wrote - Dear Mr. Ferrante, At the beginning of 2000, we started installing our Integrated Security System on all of our production firearms. We added this as an added safety feature for our consumers. The feature can not be removed.

Customer (Frank Ferrante) 4/15/2001 2:48:07 PM
HI

I know i am a small dealer, last year i sold about 40-50 of your rifles and shotguns, but now i have a problem. It seems that Remington has now installed a bolt lock on their firearms. This has cost me 5 sales in the pror week. No one wants this device, and i agree with their concerns.

Hunts are not cheap, if this device fails at a critical time there goes $20000- $50000

Can this device be removed? and without marring the rifles?

Are you able to do it?

If safety is an issue why are they not on the police line of firearms?

I now have about ten firearms in inventory that i can not sell.

Regards

Frank Ferrante
Frank's Gun Shop